

Ronaldo Dias Corrêa

" Uma Ferramenta para Auxílio ao Diagnóstico em Exames Laringoscópicos Utilizando Técnicas de Análise de Imagens"

Nowadays, image processing has become one of the most developed areas in computer science. It has been largely used in several fields of knowledge and its application has been growing in medical procedures. The development of more efficient and cheaper electronic components allowed such development, it is now accessible to general medical practice.